Game Rules and Regulations

Team Creation Rulesets

- Select 11 players (Cricket & Football) or 7 players (Kabaddi) to form your fantasy team with 100 credit points. However, you can only choose a maximum of 10 players (Cricket), 7 players (Football), or 5 players (Kabaddi) from one team.
- Users have to select at least one player from each category. For example, in cricket, choose at least one wicketkeeper, one batter, one all-rounder, and one bowler. Follow the same process for other sports.
- Once all players are selected, choose captain and vice-captain of your team. While the captain gets 2x the points, the vice-captain gets 1.5x the points.
- It is important to note that the lineup is public information. While we display it using the best sources available, we recommend verifying it from your own sources as well.

How to play Fantasy Cricket?

The 11 players should include batters, wicketkeeper, bowlers, and all-rounders. Pick two players to be the captain and vice-captain of your team. Choose them wisely - they can multiply your points, increasing your score.

What are the rules to create a playing 11?

- You need to create your fantasy team using 100 credit points only
- You cannot choose more than 10 players from a team

- You have to pick all the skills (batters, all-rounder, bowler) for a team
- After selecting a team of 11, you have to choose a Captain and Vice-Captain

What is the importance of a captain and vice-captain?

Choose the best players as the captain and vice-captain for your team. While the captain bags 2X score (twice the points earned) of his performance, the vice-captain earns 1.5X score (one and a half times the points earned). Select players you think will perform well and gain you bonus points.

How to calculate the points in Fantasy Cricket

- Each player in fantasy cricket gets 4 points each for being a part of team 11.
- Captain gets 2X points
- Vice-captain gets 1.5X points
- No points are allocated to a player during a Super Over

Bonus points are awarded on:

- Boundaries
- 25 Runs, 30 runs, 50 runs, 75 runs, 100 runs, 125 runs, 150 runs
- Economy rate
- Strike rate
- LBW/Bowled Wicket
- Dot balls
- Maiden Over
- If a player converts his half-century to a complete century, then points are allocated for full century only.

Points are deducted when:

- Player's strike rate is below 50 in ODI and 70 in T20
- Player's economy rate is above 7 RPO in ODI and 10 in T20
- A wicketkeeper, batter, or all-rounder gets out for 0 (not applicable for bowlers)

To understand the points scoring in detail, you can visit the Points System section.

Understanding the Points System in Fantasy Cricket

New Points System

(Applicable from March 12, 2025)

Let's take the example of the First T20 between India and Sri Lanka that was played on January 3, 2023 to understand the new points system:

Player	Points
Ishan Kishan (VC)	124.5
Shubhman Gill	15
Deepak Hooda (VC)	190
Wanindu Hasaranga	86

Ishan Kishan, assigned as the vice-captain, earned 1.5x his points (83). He got 37 points for scoring 37 runs, along with 12 bonus points for three fours and another 12 for two sixes. He got 4 points for scoring 25+. His strike rate was 127.59, so he got no additional points. He got 8 points for a catch and 6 points for an indirect run-out. Additionally, he received 4 points for playing the match, bringing his total to 83 points.

Deepak Hooda, is assigned as the Captain, meaning his points (95) are counted as 2x. He scored 41 runs, earning 41 points, with 1 four and 4 sixes earning 4 and 24 bonus points respectively. He got 4 bonus points for scoring 25+. His strike rate was 178.26, earning him an additional 6 points. He was involved in two run-outs with other players, earning a bonus of 12 points. Additionally, he received 4 points for playing the match, bringing his total to 95 points.

After the Match Ends

You will find the final score and rank of your team in the Completed tab. The winning positions are announced as per the ranks of different teams. These ranks are finalised based on the points accumulated by the joined teams as per the player's performances in live matches. Let's understand this better with an example:
